

Faden Quartz extra rich beauty from Pakistan

220 grams weight

95mm long, 60mm wide, 42mm tall. Electrified piece!!

Chemical- SiO_2

Hardness- 7

Structure- trigonal

Higher consciousness, awakening, angelic communication, higher realms, acceptance, stress reduction, Burns, Immune system, pain, Pineal gland.

Faden Quartz has been known to work and connect the meridian in the body to help the energy flow and has been reported to lessen pain. Several customers have reported this type of success to me. I, myself, have noticed a reduction in some pain at one time. Combine this with Aquamarine if you have swelling. The Aquamarine will help reduce swelling. Faden quartz is a Tabular crystal. A white line running through the crystals. Faden Tabular quartz are known to be activators for other crystals. The term Faden is a German word for "thread". They are found in the Alpine region of Europe, Pakistan, Russia and Arkansas.

They are found in areas of low grade metamorphism in which cavities in the rock are growing. When these zones grow, the quartz crystals in them are broken (repeatedly), and the healing and regrowth incorporates fluid and gaseous inclusions (the white threads). The edges of the crystals grow faster and incorporate the liquid inclusions in the center of the crystals.

Locality- Toyee, Waziristan, NW Frontier, Pakistan